NSCNA Neighborhood Night Out!

The 'Neighborhood Night Out' is designed to:

- Heighten crime and drug prevention awareness
- Generate support and participation in crime efforts
- Strengthen neighborhood spirit and police community relations
- Send a message to criminals to let them know that neighborhoods are organized and fighting back

Residents are asked to turn on their porch lights, lock their doors and spend the evening outside with their neighbors. The City of Austin had its Neighborhood Night Out August 6th. That date slipped through many of our calendars! Because of the importance of this event, we decided that we did need to hold one this year.

NSCNA Night Out
October 9, 2002
6:30 PM

We Need Volunteers to Host Block Parties!

All that is required of the volunteers is to make your neighbors aware that the party is being held in your yard. You can either post a sign in your yard or deliver a notice to your neighbors' doors.

If you would like to host a block party for your block(s) or have any questions, please contact Alyssa Hedge at 380-9616 or alyssa_hedge@hotmail.com.

Please come out and meet your neighbors!

NEXT NSCNA GENERAL MTG

Date: Thursday, September 19th

Time: 6:30pm

Place: Pillow Park

Potluck - Bring your favorite snack, beverage and a chair!

Kids welcome!

Yard of the Month!

Warren Friedrich

The coveted Yard of the Month award has been presented for July and August. The recipients were:

July - Jean Tompkins of 8420 Briarwood Dr

August - Janet and Salvador Espanoza of 8706 Melshire

The YOM committee members congratulate and thank the Espanoza's and Ms. Tompkins for all their hard work and effort required to keep their yard and the neighborhood looking its best especially during to most brutal months of Texas heat!

Come to a NSCNA Meeting!

If it has been a while since you have been to a neighborhood meeting, things have changed a bit! We are aiming to create a more social format that allows everyone time to meet and enjoy their neighbors. We meet at Pillow Park where we can sit under the trees and the children can enjoy playing on the playground. Occasionally we will provide pizza and other times we will have a potluck!

Please come out if you haven't been in a while! If you have any suggestions as to how to improve our meetings and make them more inviting, please contact Catherine Cotman (information below) or Alyssa Hedge (information below).

NSCNA July 4th Parade Review

Catherine Cotman

The Fourth of July parade was a great success. Even the intermittent rain could not stop our good time and celebration of patriotism. The Boy Scouts led us off followed by fancy cars, bikes, strollers, scooters, wagons and pedestrians, not to mention a few 4-legged friends. We all enjoyed sno-cones and popcorn prepared in machines donated for use by United Rent-All on Anderson Lane and watermelons provided by Sam's Club. Many other local businesses donated prizes which were awarded by raffle after the parade. We are recognizing the donating organizations in this newsletter. Please be sure to thank these local businesses for their support. Thanks again to everyone who lent their support to make this one of the best Fourth of July parades yet.

The 1st Annual Pillow Beautification Day!

October 5th - 9AM - Noon

Come one come all to our first bi-annual Pillow Workday! This is a great way to show your commitment to your community. Pillow always hosts our Association meeting during the school year, our children play in the park, many run or walk the track, and virtually every dog has visited the field. Hundreds of folks visit the grounds to watch and play soccer every week in the fall and spring. Let's get out there and show our pride and give thanks to the hub of our neighborhood.

We hope to work on the sign that Steven Weintraub managed to obtain from Guillett School AND the trees we helped get planted are in need of weeding and fresh mulch!! Many hands will make very light hearts and work!

Please contact Kim Longacre at 452-1868 or e-mail her at enviromaps@ev1.net.

Do You Enjoy Gardening?

We are looking for people who would be interested in helping to build and maintain gardens at Pillow Elementary.

Nature is a wonderful teacher. Gardens would not only beautify the grounds at Pillow, but would provide hands-on opportunities for students to learn many things. The time commitment is whatever you are able to donate. No experience is necessary- just a desire to help and to learn.

If you would be interested in joining a group of neighbors that will work hand-in-hand with the Pillow Community to build and maintain gardens, please contact Kim Longacre at 452-1868 or e-mail her at enviromaps@ev1.net

Thanks for supporting our July 4th Parade!

All of the companies listed below made generous contributions to our 4th of July Parade. We are very lucky to have such supportive businesses in our community. We thank them for their generosity and ask that you show your appreciation with your patronage.

West Nile Virus: Facts and Prevention

The West Nile Virus has made its way to Texas, so we wanted to make our neighbors aware of precautions that can be taken to prevent mosquito bites and breeding as well as some facts about the virus. While many in the media are using the word 'epidemic' to describe this virus, it is important to remember that less than 1% infected with the virus become seriously ill and far less die from the virus. The best thing we can do is take precautions and be aware of the facts.

Facts about the West Nile Virus:

- Even if the mosquito is infected, less than 1% of people who get bitten and become infected will get severely ill.
- Among those with severe illness due to West Nile virus, case-fatality rates range from 3% to 15% and are highest among the elderly. Less than 1% of persons infected with West Nile virus will develop severe illness.
- West Nile encephalitis is NOT transmitted from person-to-person. For example, you cannot get West Nile virus from touching or kissing a person who has the disease, or from a health care worker who has treated someone with the disease.
- There is no documented evidence that a pregnancy is at risk due to infection with West Nile virus.
- In the temperate zone of the world (i.e., between latitudes 23.5° and 66.5° north and south), West Nile encephalitis cases occur primarily in the late summer or early fall. In the southern climates where temperatures are milder, West Nile virus can be transmitted year round.
- Most people infected with West Nile Virus will not show symptoms, the virus will run its course in a week to 10 days, and they will never know they had it. Some, however, may develop a fever, headache, body aches, and swollen lymph nodes. Although rare, death can occur. Those most at risk include the elderly and people with compromised immune systems from illness or drugs such as chemotherapy. There is no specific treatment for West Nile Virus infection. In a serious case, a person may have to be hospitalized and given supportive treatment along with good nursing care.

What You Can Do to Help Fight Mosquitoes:

- Do not allow water to stagnate in old tires, flowerpots, trash containers, swimming pools, birdbaths, pet bowls, etc. (Mosquitoes can lay hundreds of eggs in as little as a tablespoon of water)
- Empty and change the water in bird baths, fountains, wading pools, rain barrels, and potted plant trays at least once a week if not more often.
- Drain or fill temporary pools with dirt.
- Keep swimming pools treated and circulating and rain gutters unclogged.

Steps You can Take to Prevent Mosquito Bites:

- Stay indoors at dawn, dusk, and in the early evening.
- Wear long-sleeved shirts and long pants whenever you are outdoors.
- Spray clothing with repellents containing permethrin or DEET since mosquitoes may bite through thin clothing.
- Apply insect repellent sparingly to exposed skin. An effective repellent will contain 35% DEET (N,N-diethyl-meta-toluamide). DEET in high concentrations (greater than 35%) provides no additional protection.
- Repellents may irritate the eyes and mouth, so avoid applying repellent to the hands of children.
 - Whenever you use an insecticide or insect repellent, be sure to read and follow the manufacturer's DIRECTIONS FOR USE, as printed on the product.
- Install or repair window and door screens so that mosquitoes cannot get indoors. Replace outdoor lights with "bug lights".
- Note: Vitamin B and "ultrasonic" devices are NOT effective in preventing mosquito bites.
- It does not appear that a person can get WNV from handling live or dead infected birds. However, use gloves or double plastic bags when handling any dead animals, including birds.

What Austin / Travis County Health and Human Services (A/TCHHSD) is Doing

Elements of the A/TCHHSD mosquito control program include public education, the treatment of drainage areas and standing water, and spraying. The Health Department provides a free mosquito assessment service in which technicians inspect property and recommend actions the homeowner can take to reduce the mosquito population. To request a site assessment or to report standing water or large volumes of mosquitoes, call The A/TCHHSD Environmental Health and Consumer Protection Unit at 972-5600. The third component of the mosquito control program, spraying, kills adult mosquitoes, and is about 10 percent of the overall mosquito control effort. The chemical used by the A/TCHHSD is EPA-approved and will not harm humans or animals. The spray kills only those active adult mosquitoes that come into contact with the chemical, and it retains its effectiveness for about eight hours. There is a "No Spray" list of residents who do not want mosquito spraying operations near their homes. No spraying will be done within 200 feet of the property of anyone on the "No Spray" list. To have your name included on the list, call 972-5600.

Meet the Anderson's!

Harold and Bernice Anderson moved into their house on Benbrook 32 years ago. They are a wonderful couple with much history to share. Harold is an outgoing gentleman who spent 14 months serving in World War II under General Patton. Bernice is a vivacious women who has witnessed an amazing period of change in this country. It is impossible to describe a lifetime in the one hour we spoke, but here are the highlights they shared with me.

Serving under Patton in World War II

Harold, know as "Andy" to his friends, went into the service in 1939. He trained at Fort Sam Houston in San Antonio and then was selected to be an instructor at Fort Sill in Oklahoma. When he went overseas he joined General Patton's outfit. Harold described General Patton and being a "bloodthirsty man who didn't care about a man's life." During his tour he recalled trying to cross the Rhine River. The Germans had zeroed in on the American soldiers and the water began to turn crimson from the many fallen men. General Sylvester told Patton, "we cannot cross." Patton replied, "These men are expendable."

He remembered capturing a German vehicle. Patton wanted parts for the vehicle so Mr. Anderson was sent into enemy territory with a driver and an interpreter. They made it to the factory, found the parts and made it back safely. He said they received a commendation for their bravery and efforts.

He described another battle that he called the "Belgium Bulge" where they were surrounded by the Germans. They called for air support. The visibility was so poor that when the support arrived it dropped on our own men killing several thousands. Harold said that incident wasn't very widely reported.

After returning from World War II, Harold left the service. A colonel told him he was a staff sargeant with great potential to make it to the top. Harold said, "After a tour in Patton's outfit and what I had gone through I wanted out. I had a wife and a son, I wanted out." His request was granted. After he returned, he did not talk much about the war. He experienced a nervous breakdown that stemmed from combat exhaustion - 14 months of constant bombing and firing. He recalled a time shortly after when he and Bernice were shopping on Congress. As a car drove by it backfired. Harold said he embarassed Bernice because he immediately dropped to the ground. Thinking back, Harold described the experience as "a bad dream."

Meeting Bernice

Bernice's nephew, Raymond, was in the service with Harold. Raymond's aunt and uncle were hosting a party and dance at their house. Raymond told Harold that he had an aunt that was his age and he wanted Harold to meet her. Raymond must have known that they would be a great fit, because Harold and Bernice were married on Armistice Day, November 11, 1942. Ironically, Raymond went on to marry one of Harold's first cousins!

Austin, TX

After Harold left the service they settled in Austin, TX. Harold and Bernice chuckled as they remember Austin as a town of 65,000 people with 8,000 students at UT Austin. Harold spent 10 years as a salesman for Walter Tipps' company. He then worked 32 years for the Texas Highway Department using his supply experience. During that time, Bernice told Harold she wanted a job. They had a neighbor who worked at the Austin School District and helped Bernice get a job. She spent 25 years working for them. During this time Harold and Bernice had a side business cleaning office buildings and banks. Harold can remember nights when they would finish cleaning at 3AM, sleep for 2 hours and then be back up for their day jobs!

They moved to our neighborhood 32 years ago. Looking at housing prices today, they chuckle again when they mention that they paid $29,950 for their home. They remember roaming cattle and horses in the prairie behind them. Bernice told me once when they were sitting in their kitchen eating breakfast, a horse ran right through the backyard. After that incident, they decided to build a wooden fence around their yard.

Traveling and Retirement

Bernice said that when they retired she told Harold they were going to travel to places they had not been. All their hard work afforded them the opportunity to visit 19 foreign countries. Harold had the opportunity to take Bernice to many places he had been during the war. They were also able to visit Harold's kinfolk in Sweden.

Life Today

Harold and Bernice have not slowed down. They play bingo and a domino game called "chicken foot" with friends several times a month. Bernice makes her famous fruitcake over the holidays which through word-of-mouth had become a little business in itself. I hear the fruitcake is to die for! Harold keeps busy by spending 2 days a week working at Covert Ford. They have a grown son and daughter who both live here in Austin.

I want to thank the Anderson's for taking the time to speak with me!

President's Corner

Roger Wines

It is interesting to me that although every year we live - is basically the same in most ways as the previous year, there are things that make it different and interestingly wonderful for each of us. When was the last year you can remember not getting most of our rain in the spring, and then having a wet July? It's obvious that here in Austin, we can expect the unexpected, and in today's world that's good. Without having changes and the ability to cope with the changes, we as individuals, as neighborhoods, as a city or nation, begin the process of 'dying on the vine'. Progress is the direct result of change, and we as individuals need to change to stay in tune with that progress.

This world, and more especially this neighborhood, has its daily challenges and changes for each of us to understand and we need to consider our reflection towards them.

Many of us tend to be critical of our neighbors. Each of us has our opinion of how things should be. An opinion of how something should be does not make it the 'gospel' or the rule - it's simply an opinion. Rarely do two people agree exactly the same. One person thinks grass in a yard should be watered on a particular schedule just to try and keep it green. Another believes that watering the grass is a waste of the water and the processing. Some of us want to control those around us, and others don't even want to know what's going on. That's what a neighborhood is all about - all of us with different opinions. Can you imagine how boring the world would be if we all thought and did everything the exact same way. Ugh.

Should we have a differing opinion about something - the challenge is - how should we handle it? If we know our neighbors as friends, we would most likely eliminate some of our differences BECAUSE we would have a better understanding of the others' opinion(s). It may be they need that friendship to help alter their opinion(s) as well as our own. It's called meeting-in-the-middle.

Complaining seldom gets results, unless it is something that is detrimental to your person or property, and in that case it's probably against the laws, and the authorities should be notified - without hesitation. Positive criticism on the other hand can be beneficial in helping us all to do better, or be better. In place of deciding to complain, perhaps we can be helpful in finding a solution and offering that. Associations do not resolve any issues - people resolve issues.

As a neighborhood, we have had some continuing successes this year, with a lot still to do, and only five more months to get it all done. The Spring-Fling was fun, the July 4th Parade was once again great and even got some media attention, reaching out to new neighbors and members is continuing, and we are basically a stable neighborhood. New ideas continue to come forward, and hopefully we will all think 'out-of-the-box' when it comes to initiating new ideas. We should take great pride in what we have, and plan to have more. Let us hear from you, and be sure to join us at the next meeting when we will have baby sitting available, and at a time we should be able to make.

Our association has signs which are placed throughout the neighborhood to announce various meetings and events. These signs need to be placed on 'personal property' and not on 'city' or 'right of way' properties. If you live where it would be beneficial to have a sign posted for a few days at a time to announce upcoming events, please call and leave your name & telephone number, and reference 'yard signs'. We will be in touch.

More of these signs are needed. Thanks to the real estate friends that have provided the sign posts in the past. Perhaps someone knows where we might obtain a few more. Let us know about this too.

I would like to hear your response to this article or any other printed in this newsletter. Please address your comments directly to me or the 'editor'. Some responses may be considered for reprint here.
